Popular Trends

2017

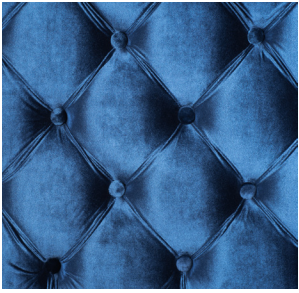

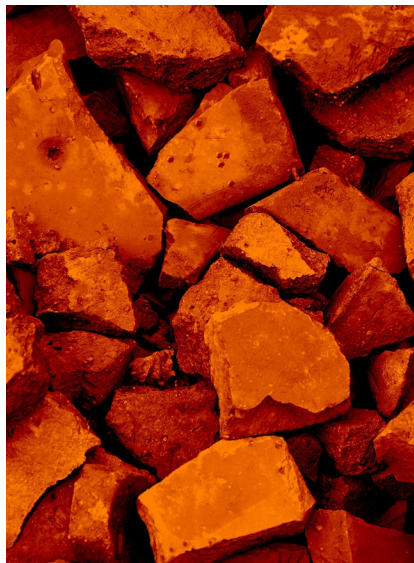

Global Fusion defines the constant traveler who layers cultural influences and stockpiles the world's treasures to become the ultimate collector for the home. Indigenous designs, big, bold patterns in rich, vibrant colors grounded by earth tones provide an edgier approach toward decorating in this ever-growing popular trend. A melting pot for worldly possessions, Global Fusion strays away from the predictable theory of color, and finds fresh, resourceful elements to create the unpredictable. International flavors bring a sense of optimism, uninhibited expression and the ability to satisfy the soul in this diversified trend.

Spiced Revival

Designed to captivate your attention the “New Traditional” color palettes are upon us. Deep, rich colors of velvet and unambiguous shades that are influenced by nature’s raw materials are just the start. From dusky and refined blues, saturated greens, accents of warm terracotta and spicy clays, this rebirth is about taking a risk while maintaining your confidence and composure. No other trend brings the spectacular colors formed by nature to the forefront of your inspiration and no other trend captures the true evolution of your personality.

black + white

AND color all over

Nothing presents a more classic appeal than the striking contrast of Black and White. Forever in style, this decorating scheme is one which allows for simplistic balance and demanding boldness. No other color combination can energize a living space in the home that demands to be the attention grabber and no other combination creates such a sharp sense of sophistication and elegance. Subtle infusions of vivid colors such as reds and yellows or soothing neutrals in grey or beige can provide a high-tech retro style or earth-inspired dimension that harmonizes and details every texture and design element in your living space. Silver and chrome, distress woods evolve and become important elements that highlight the timelessly beauty of what is simply known as Black and White.

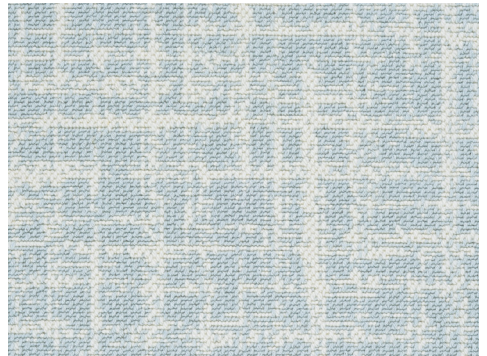

Many of today's top trends include vibrant, bold colors with blue at the top of every list. The versatility of the color only adds to its success; blues give off a cool, calming effect while keeping décor looking crisp and fresh.

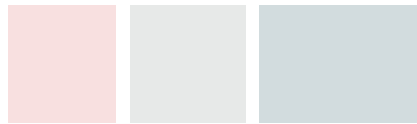

Deep, bolder blues inspire a coastal feel and, when paired with white accents, give the perfect nautical combination for your home. Lighter blues add a simple, carefree freshness to any room. You can't go wrong with any blue that suits your style, so experiment as much as you want. Bonus point for blue; the color makes your room look bigger.

classic pastels

Barely-there colors and romantic pastels are making a sweet statement in the interior design world. These soft, muted tones add a hint of color to your design canvas, creating a relaxing living space to virtually any home style. Pastels are a great way to upgrade interiors because they act as a neutral and can balance out both strong, modern décor as well as delicate, vintage décor. Dare to add pops of pastels in accent pieces or use a pale shade for your walls to create an overall soothing effect.

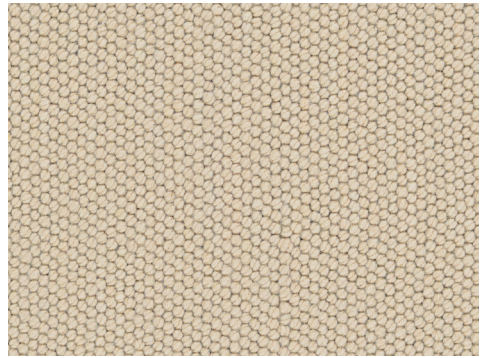

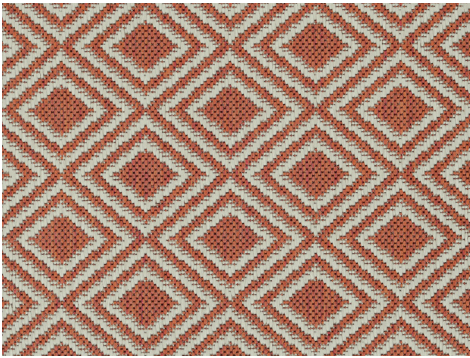

One of the most sought-after interior design styles of 2016 is nature-inspired décor. Because this trend focuses on one-of-a-kind, individual components, accent pieces play a major part in bringing the look together. The reclaimed woods and pure, natural fibers ideal for this style add a strong, yet comforting, aesthetic to any space in the home. Bringing the outdoors inside creates an open, relaxing atmosphere perfect for tranquil living.

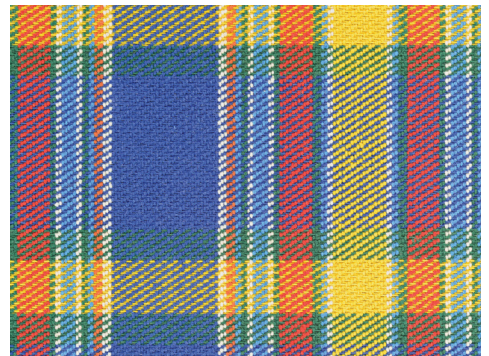

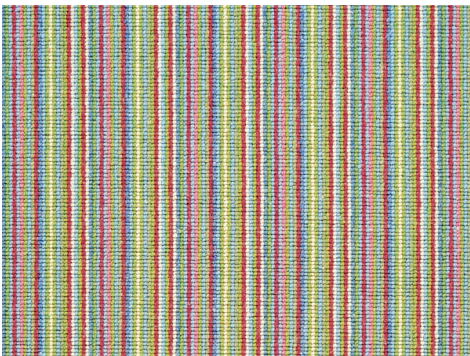

Color, color, color! If there was one word to describe Boho Chic, color would be it. Mixes of bold, warm hues, including rich oranges, yellows and reds, brighten up the most exotic rooms. This style believes in the mantra “more is more” when it comes to patterns and colors, making it one of the most eclectic interior design styles in the world. Boho Chic takes global influences from Moroccan-inspired designs to the colors of a Turkish spice bazaar. If you’re looking for a style that will be uniquely yours, find the inspiration and go Boho Chic.
